Seeing Things Differently

Why people do not always agree?

Objective

To supports pupils' thinking around seeing things from another perspective/viewpoint.

Pupil Activity

Supply each pair of pupils with a lens and/or a mirror.

1. Ask the pupils to look at the room in different ways using a mirror or through a selection of lenses and describe to a partner how they see things, what looks different. Discuss as a class the fact that although everyone is looking at the same room they see it differently.
2. Can the pupils think of examples when people feel strongly but differently about things?
3. For example - supporting different football teams; different religions have different 'Sabbath' days.
4. Explain that when people believe different things they sometimes see things differently. How could that present difficulties? How could people overcome those difficulties?
